are co-sponsoring a conference on

Migration Crisis: How to Effectively Use Community Resources

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 1, 2018
9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Hosted by
NY PRESBYTERIAN HOSPITAL, WESTCHESTER DIVISION
CORNELL PSYCHIATRY

New York Presbyterian Hospital, Auditorium, 21 Bloomingdale Road, White Plains, NY 10605
(This is a handicap accessible facility, however, visual and hearing aids will not be provided)

$70.00 for Senior Mental Health Clinicians (over 10 years of clinical experience)
$35.00 for WGPS members, NY Presbyterian Staff Members and Students
$55.00 for non-members

All proceeds from this conference will help both organizations in their mission to train group psychotherapists by providing scholarships for early career professionals and students

Description: The Migration Crisis which is characterized by a chaotic process of reuniting thousands of migrant children and parents separated by the “zero tolerance” policy poses great psychological risks, both short- and long-term. This conference enhances utilizing a bicultural perspective to engage traumatized migrant Hispanics. English speaking and/or bilingual attendees will learn how to apply bicultural group and family therapy interventions geared at addressing trauma. A panel comprised of community based organization leaders will enhance understanding of the current crisis surrounding immigration policy and neighborhood approaches. Demo-experiential trainings incorporated throughout Day-long conference to strengthen skills and interventions.

7.5 CE Credits are available to social workers for this program. Westchester Group Psychotherapy Society (WGPS) SW CPE is recognized by the New York State Education Department's State Board for Social Work as an approved provider of continuing education for licensed social workers # 0310.
9:30am-10:00am: Registration, Networking, coffee, bagels, fruit
10:00am-10:15am: Welcoming remarks by conference chair: Robert H. Klein, PhD, ABPP, FAGPA, DLFAGPA, CGP

(Presenters' Bios follow the Conference program)

10:15-11:00:
Title: A culturally sensitive approach to family & group therapies with Hispanic Immigrants
Presenter: Leo M. Leiderman, PsyD, ABPP, CGP, FAGPA
Description: Implementing a culturally sensitive treatment approach emphasizes the need for a clinician to become aware of that population’s culture which will be validated throughout the treatment process. Incorporating bicultural family and group therapies enhance engagement, treatment effectiveness while lowering attrition rates. Family and group therapy interventions will be provided.
Learning Objectives:
Participants will be able to:
1. Explain a greater recognition of implementing a bicultural model with this population.
2. Utilize bicultural family & group interventions to address new immigrant Hispanic family dynamics, loss, trauma, grief, and isolation.

11:00-12:00PM: Panel Discussion and Q&A:
Title: A community based approach towards empowering immigrants and how National and Local Immigration Policies are affecting our communities
Moderator: Leo Leiderman
Description: There is a very clear and well-documented crisis surrounding immigration policy in the United States today. These policies have serious and significant impact on immigrants, their families, employers and the communities in which they reside. Immigration policy in the United States has been widely debated and has brought about unprecedented challenges, fear and uncertainty for the immigrant community. The most significant policy shifts and their impact on families and the organizations that serve them will be discussed.
Learning Objectives:
Participants will be able to:
1. Understand the policies and purposes of community based organizations to serve and protect immigrant communities.
2. Explain how recent shifts of national immigration policies are affecting vulnerable migrant families.
3. Clarify misperceptions about immigration enforcement and the role of Westchester county law enforcement agencies

12:00-12:35: Grassroots BYO Lunch and networking- all attendees need to bring their own lunches to the conference.

12:35-12:45: Special Guest speaker Michael Orth, Commissioner, Westchester County Department of Community Mental Health
Title: The Inner Language of the Mother Tongue: Beyond Translation to Empathic Understanding
Presenter: Victor L. Schermer, MA, LFAGPA
Description: We usually think of a foreign language as a matter of words. At the most basic level, we must have a common vocabulary to explain, instruct, and ask and answer questions in a helpful way. But if we want to establish genuine rapport and understanding with foreign-language individuals, we must also grasp the language of their emotions and their culture of origin, the language of the heart and soul, that is acquired early in life and which is beyond words.
The first language we all speak is that of body and gesture. Mirror neurons and attunement play important roles in acquiring such a “protolanguage” that develops into words and speech. Throughout our lives, our true feelings re-emerge in body language, stories, and dreams that reflect our earliest life experiences.
Understanding the inner language can be useful in working with immigrant populations. Years after fully acquiring a new language, people continue to speak to themselves and have dreams in their native tongue. Working with them in psychotherapy provides a window that opens to the landscape of how they think and feel deep inside. In this talk, I will use several such cases and other experiences to explore how this inner language forms and expresses itself. We also will discuss the ways in which race, class, status, and nationalistic privileging are obstacles to rapport with people encountering a new language and culture, and how a process of empathic understanding can help in grasping the language of the heart and soul, which can provide a bridge of hope and trust in the caregiving process.
Learning Objectives:
Participants will be able to understand:
1. How a native language differs psychologically from a language acquired later on.
2. How race, class, status, and national privileging are obstacles to rapport with people encountering a new language and culture.
3. How to empathically attune to the inner language and world of the person being helped.

Title: Dealing with the Pain and Potential of Migration: The Relevance of the Trauma Group Model
Presenter: Suzanne B. Phillips Psy.D, ABPP, CGP, FAGPA
Description: With recognition of the hardship suffered by migrants worldwide who are driven from their homes by persecution, violence or natural disaster, only to face more hardship in the transit and entry to other countries, I will discuss the restorative potential of the trauma group model. It delineates the goal and techniques of trauma groups to address the stress reactions, isolation, fear, helplessness and grief suffered as well as the resilience and hope needed. It distinguishes the trauma group model from a psychotherapy group model and exemplifies the use of Group Psychological First Aid in a Role Playing Exercise/Demonstration Group.
Learning Objectives:
Participants will be able to:
1. Identify four sources of trauma specific to those migrating or seeking asylum in the US.
2. List five functions of a trauma group.
3. List four ways in which a trauma group model differs from a psychotherapy group model.
4. Describe the steps of Group Psychological First Aid.

2:45- 3:00: Break

3:00-4:00: Large Process Group Experience facilitated by Robert H. Klein, Ph.D., ABPP, FAPA, DLFAGPA, CGP and Shoshana Ben-Noam, PsyD, CGP, LFAGPA

Description: During the course of this full day conference on the migration crisis participants are likely to experience many different emotions, thoughts and fantasies stirred within them. Countertransference, stereotyping, and prejudices may emerge in each of us. This large group will provide an opportunity to share, observe and explore these as we seek to gain a deeper understanding of the issues we face collectively and our own roles in effectively dealing with them.

Objectives:
Participants will be able to:
1. Identify 3 prevalent countertransference responses among mental health professionals dealing with the migration crisis.
2. List 2 common forms stereotyping and prejudice shared by such professionals.
3. Describe a set of 3 personal guidelines for maintaining a healthy and helpful professional role in working with the migration crisis.

4:00PM – 4:30PM: Wrap up with Conference Speakers Panel and Conference Attendees
Moderator: Robert Klein

OUR MISSION: The Group Foundation for Advancing Mental Health is a philanthropic organization dedicated to changing lives through therapeutic group work by advancing the most effective and innovative approaches to group therapy education, training, research and community outreach.

WHO ARE WE: The Group Foundation for Advancing Mental Health was established by the American Group Psychotherapy Association (AGPA) www.agpa.org as a not-for-profit, separately incorporated 501 (c) 3 organization with the purpose of advancing mental health through group work.

The Group Foundation advocates for and supports the research, education/training and community programs to assure the advancement of the most innovative group work to enhance people’s lives. Evidence is now clear that group interventions are at the forefront of treatments to heal trauma, improve individual, family and workplace relationships, treat psychological conditions and aid the military and their families in dealing with the impact of war. In short, group changes lives. With the knowledge that groups change lives and promote mental health, the Group Foundation is dedicated to supporting the advancement of evidenced based group interventions and research, supporting the education and training of effective group leaders, and supporting community outreach and the dissemination of information for the benefit of the public and professional communities.

WESTCHESTER GROUP PSYCHOTHERAPY SOCIETY (WGPS)

www.wgps.org

ABOUT WGPS: The Westchester Group Psychotherapy Society (WGPS) is not-for-profit organization with the purpose of advancing mental health through group work. WGPS seeks to advance training, research, education, and consultation in group psychotherapy. We believe in the efficacy and viability of group therapy as a primary modality of psychological treatment and emotional support. WGPS is enhanced by being an affiliate of the American Group Psychotherapy Association. WGPS is committed to serving our membership and the community of Westchester’s mental health professionals by providing:

- An interdisciplinary forum for professionals involved in the use of group psychotherapy for the enhancement of mental health.
- Educational programs on a regular basis for our membership, mental health practitioners and the community at large.
- Opportunities for professional development.
- Mentorship, opportunities for early career professionals and students.
- A professional and networking community for group therapists that will assist members in forming professional, social, and meaningful alliances.
About Neighbors Link

The Neighbors Link mission is to strengthen the whole community through the healthy integration of immigrants. Our strategies to achieve our mission are through education, employment, legal services and empowerment for the immigrant community. Neighbors Link engages all residents in dialogue about integration and creates volunteer opportunities for students and adults. We have over 150 substantive partnerships with businesses, government, law enforcement, schools, healthcare, and other local organizations. Each year, Neighbors Link serves over 4,000 immigrants with programs including Workforce Development, Family Center, Legal Services, English as a Second Language, Support Services, Community Engagement, and Advocacy. Neighbors Link operates throughout Westchester County and has locations in Mount Kisco (headquarters), Ossining and Yonkers. More information is available at: 914-666-3410 or http://www.neighborslink.org.

About Make the Road New York

Make the Road New York builds the power of immigrant and working class communities of color to achieve dignity and justice through organizing, policy innovation, transformative education and survival services. Recognizing that real and lasting improvements will be achieved only when all New Yorkers have sufficient power to enforce legal rights, access educational and work opportunities, and achieve broad-based policy change, we support and enable residents’ efforts to access education and legal services, and to shape policies that affect our lives. MRNY has 22,000+ members across our five offices in Westchester County, Queens, Brooklyn, Staten Island and Long Island who lead multiple organizing committees across our issues and program areas. Members take on leadership roles in our campaigns, determine our priorities, and elect the representatives who comprise most of our Board of Directors.
